

The Important Thing About Thanksgiving

Teacher Instructions:

*Read aloud The Important Book by Margaret Wise Brown with your students. Hold a discussion about what is MOST important about Thanksgiving to each student. Record a list of students' ideas on the board.

Share the example on Page 3 and then allow students to write their own versions. Compile into a class book using the cover on Page 4.

The Important Thing About Thanksgiving

Student Instructions:

Read The Important Book with your teacher. Think about what is most important to you about Thanksgiving. Write the most important thing about Thanksgiving on the first line. Then write three additional important things. On the last line, repeat your first sentence.

EXAMPLE

The most important thing about Thanksgiving is spending time with family.

We eat a delicious dinner.

We watch football and parades.

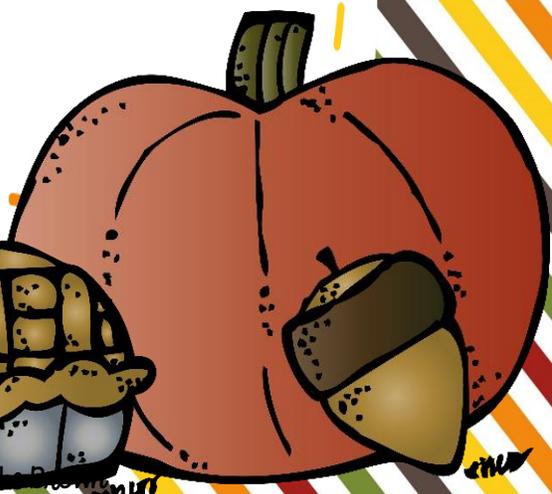

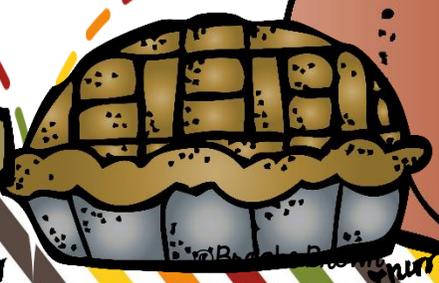

We take time to rest.

But the most important thing about Thanksgiving is spending time with family.
